4.4.5.3.D CASTING VOTE

A Registrant may cast as many votes on a ballot as there are Board vacancies to be filled in the electoral district in which the Registrant is eligible to vote.

The Registrar and CEO shall certify the final vote tabulation after confirming that the results of the election reflect the votes cast.

4.4.5.3.F TIE VOTE

Where in an election to the Board of Directors, all of the candidates in an electoral district receive an equal number of votes, the Registrar and CEO shall break the tie by lot and then declare that candidate elected.

The recount shall be conducted in accordance with the procedures for the opening and counting the ballots established by the Registrar and CEO.

If the recount changes the result of the election, the full amount of the recount fee shall be returned to the candidate.

Under the circumstances where an issue arises with respect to the recount of the ballots that is not governed by this By-Law, the Registrar and CEO shall resolve the dispute in a fair and democratic manner.

If the Executive Committee or Registrar and CEO is of the opinion that there are reasonable grounds to doubt or dispute the validity of any election, they shall initiate an inquiry and, following the inquiry, shall provide the Board of Directors with a report and recommendation.

The Board of Directors, after considering the recommendation of the Executive Committee or Registrar and CEO, may,

- Declare the election result to be valid, or
- Declare the election result to be invalid, in which case, the Board either,

4.4.5.6 VALIDITY OF ELECTIONS

The Board of Directors shall not declare an election result to be invalid solely on the basis of a minor irregularity regarding the requirements of this By-Law or a procedure set out by the Registrar and CEO.

The failure by the Registrar or CEO or the College to comply with any of the timelines set out in this By-Law shall not be sufficient to change the results of any election or by-election for any electoral district unless the Executive Committee is satisfied that the failure likely resulted in a result which would not have occurred if the timelines had been followed.

Prepared: September 2017

Information contained in the following document is the property of the CMLTO and cannot be reproduced in part or whole without written permission.

All Rights Reserved.

Introduction

The Code of Ethics describes the expected ethical obligations and principles that patients, the profession and the public believe will guide the professional and personal conduct of all medical laboratory technologists (MLTs). These principles can be thought of more as exhibited behaviours than the knowledge and skills listed in a Standards of Practice document.

The Code of Ethics, along with the Standards of Practice, defines professionalism in the practice of medical laboratory technology. MLTs adhere not only to the Code of Ethics and guidelines, but also to the underlying spirit and precepts.

A medical laboratory technologist's fundamental responsibility is to manage the relevant medical laboratory services in the best interests of patients. MLTs have professional obligations to work collaboratively with colleagues and other healthcare providers to deliver professional services.

Patient safety and protection is paramount at all times.

The Code of Ethics will:

- Promote an MLT's recognition of the professional and personal conduct expectations for medical laboratory technology practice.
- Represent the minimum standards of professional behaviour and ethical conduct expected of all MLTs.
- Apply to MLTs at all times in all dimensions of professional and personal conduct, including technical and nontechnical fields such as education, administration, quality assurance, and research.

The ethical obligations and principles are not listed in order of importance. They should be balanced against each other and considered in relation to all of the obligations and principles described by the Code of Ethics. Over time, the Code of Ethics will evolve in response to regulatory, legal, and ethical expectations and will be adopted only after stakeholder consultation. Legislation, regulations, bylaws,

Code of Ethics, Standards of Practice and practice guidelines collectively establish a framework for the practice of ethical and safe medical laboratory technology.

Obligations to the Public:

Medical laboratory technologists are dedicated to serving the public's health care needs through respectful, accessible, and cooperative interactions with the public and patients, other healthcare providers, and students. MLTs facilitate awareness and understanding of the medical laboratory technology profession.

Obligations to the Profession:

Medical laboratory technologists contribute to the profession's development through collaboration, mentorship, self-development, and support of its institutions. MLTs strive for excellence in their professional practice, and professional and personal conduct through life-long learning. Medical laboratory technologists recognize, disclose, and resolve conflicts of interest to safeguard patient care.

Obligations to the Regulatory Body:

Medical laboratory technologists understand, respect and comply with provincial statutes and regulations, and the Code of Ethics, Standards of Practice, bylaws and practice guidelines approved by their regulatory body. Medical laboratory technologists cooperate and maintain harmonious relations with, and promptly reply to all correspondence from the regulatory body at all times.

Obligations to Oneself:

Medical laboratory technologists are accountable and responsible for their professional and personal conduct. MLTs practice within their scope of professional competence and recognize their professional and personal limitations. Medical laboratory technologists maintain and improve their knowledge, skills, judgement and behaviours to ensure the best possible patient care.

Ethical Principles

Medical laboratory technologists demonstrate the following ethical principles through the medical laboratory technology services delivered, either alone or in collaboration with a multidisciplinary team, and any services rendered under the MLTs' direction and supervision.

Medical laboratory technologists shall:

- Respect and protect patient confidentiality and privacy by understanding and complying with applicable privacy legislation and policies regarding the collection, use, and disclosure of confidential information.
- Recognize, disclose, and act appropriately to resolve conflicts of interest that arise in the course of professional activities. They will maintain the integrity of personal health information, maintain transparency, and deliver unbiased patient-centered care. MLTs only use confidential information in the best interests of the patient.

Diversity / Respect / Dignity / Consent

Medical laboratory technologists shall:

- Value, respect and protect the rights, welfare, and dignity of all patients by at all times providing patient care and service with respect for human rights, regardless of, but not limited to race, ethnicity, religion, language, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, socio-economic status, and mental or physical abilities.
- Obtain free and informed consent from patients before undertaking any action, in accordance with relevant legislation and policies, recognizing that consent can be withdrawn at any time.
- Maintain appropriate professional boundaries with patients, colleagues, and other healthcare providers while delivering patient-centered care.

Summary

While the ethical obligations and principles are presented as discrete sections, medical laboratory technologists recognize that in practice all ethical principles are implemented as part of daily processes and do not stand alone. MLTs use a combination of their knowledge, skills, judgment and ethical behaviour to adjust to changing circumstances and evolving environments.
